Noorduyn Norseman Appoints New Management Staff

December 3, 2006

Montreal, Quebec

Noorduyn Norseman, the world leader in the design and manufacturing of specialty service flight equipment announces the appointment of Mr. Daniel Landry as Production Director and Mr. Patrick Phillips as Business Development Director.

Mr. Landry joins the team at Noorduyn Norseman after having applied the knowledge gained throughout 21 years at CAE Inc. of Montreal. President and CEO of Noorduyn Norseman, Mathieu Boivin, states that “Daniel’s expertise in production management and his deep knowledge of fabrication of aluminum products and composite materials are great assets to our company.”

Patrick Phillips, who joined the company backed with 10 years of solid experience in his field, has worked for notable companies such as L-3 Communications and CMC Electronics where he planned and executed successful business development projects.

“I am glad to become a part of a company so rich in its own 75 year history” said Mr. Phillips. Noorduyn Norseman is in the process of reinventing itself under the leadership of its president and CEO Mr. Mathieu Boivin who is also the owner of two other companies: Transtex Composite and Norcan Aluminum. According to Mr. Phillips, “both these companies present interesting possibilities of synergy with Noorduyn Norseman.”
